MTC buses not stopping at Urapakkam stop

RANGANATHAN SIVAKUMAR

From Kalaigai Centenary Bus Terminus (KCBT) in Kilambakkam, Metropolitan Transport Corporation operates buses towards Broadway, Poona-mallee, Adyar, Thiruvanniyur, T. Nagar and Koyambedu. Yet not a single bus halts at Urapakkam bus stop (on the lane towards Irumbuliyur). Commuters in Urapakkam have to walk a long distance to reach the terminal. After exiting the terminus, and taking a U-turn at the Urapakkam intersection (GST Road and Iyyencherry Main Road), buses skip the Urapakkam bus stop, and a halting point opposite KCBT, and halt at Vandalur Zoo stop.

Urapakkam stopover is a key stop on GST Road, situated among residential areas. Senior citizens residing around Iyyencherry Main Road find it challenging to walk up to the terminal, which is more than one kilometre away.

I request MTC to look into this issue and ensure that all buses starting from the Kilambakkam bus terminal and going via Perungalathur (towards parts of Chennai, including Koyambedu) halt at the stop.

‘Replace the signboard on Velachery Road’

R. V. BASKARAN.

The letters on a signboard installed near Camp Road intersection on Velachery Main Road (on the side towards Medavakkam) are peeling off.

The names and distances etched on the signboard are not visible making it unhelpful to motorists, especially those new to Velachery Main Road.

This is a key road that facilitates access to the IT Corridor, East Coast Road, Mambakkam Main Road and Medavakkam Main Road. The stretch comes under the State Highways Department.

R. V. Baskaran is a resident of Selayur

‘Restoration work needs added features’

B. SARAVANAN.

It is good to see the Thiruneermalai Lake being restored after decades. As part of the restoration work, the bunds have been cleaned, lake is being de-silted and water being emptied from the lake to ‘Nattu Kalvai’.

However, the de-silting exercise will be futile until the Tambaram City Municipal Corporation and the Water Resources Department plug illegal sewer inlets and take steps to deploy police personnel on the lake bund along Thiruneermalai Road.

The encroachers are discharging sewage into the waterbody.

The desilting exercise can be carried out properly only after the tank is emptied. As the bunds sport a clean look, the youth use the place to consume liquor. This illegal activity can be stopped only if the Tambaram Police Commissionerate personnel patrol the bund at regular intervals.

A rain gauge station should also be raised. All sluice gates should be automated according to rainfall.

Beides, the lake bunds should be strengthened and sluices repaired.

B. Saravanan is a core volunteer at Thiruneermalai Eri Padukappu Kuzhu.

‘Palavakkam AIR Colony playground in a sorry state’

Palavakkam All India Radio Colony playground, which is frequented by children and adults to play cricket and volleyball, is in a pathetic state. Dumping of garbage and haphazard parking of cars are detrimental to the health of the people using the playground.

‘Remove the encroachments along Velachery Main Road’

SUDHAKAR G

Vehicular traffic between Camp Road intersection and East Tambaram has increased manifold but the movement of vehicles remains sluggish.

Encroachments along the stretch are hindering the free flow of traffic between Selayur Police Station and Camp Road signal. Commercial establishments have encroached upon lanes towards East Tambaram and Mahalakshmi Nagar, hindering traffic movement during rush hour. The electric posts along the carriageway should also be relocated.

The State Highways Department should maintain the carriageway since the road provides connectivity to Chennai’s third railway terminal, GST Road, Mudichur Road, Medavakkam Main Road, and Classical Language Road.

‘Restore small bus service in Madambakkam’

V. VIJAYALAKSHMI VENKATRAMAN

After multiple requests to introduce bus services from Madambakkam to regions along Velachery Main Road, Metropolitan Transport Corporation (MTC) introduced a mini bus connecting Camp Road and Rajakilpakkam through ALS Nagar, Yeswanth Nagar and Padmavathy Nagar.

But the service was stopped in a short time. This service is needed for people residing in these areas to go to Velachery Main Road as other bus routes have fewer services. There are no share auto services either.

Many students, daily wagers and office goers struggle to reach Velachery Main Road.

I request the MTC authorities to resume small bus services as soon as possible.

V. Vijayalakshmi Venkatraman is a resident of Madambakkam

Regulars at Grama Sabha meetings

Students from different departments of SRMIST attend these meetings to learn about people's problems and have them addressed

LIFFY THOMAS

Grama Sabha meetings are not only about voters coming to discuss local development plans and the panchayats getting budgets approved. Many a time, a curious bunch of college students would be sitting in the background, taking down notes about concerns raised by villagers and coming back with solutions to address them.

For some years now, students of SRM Institute of Science and Technology in Kattankulathur have been active participants at Grama Sabha meetings organised in various villages located not far from their campus. At the recent meeting held on August 15, a team of 14 students and five faculty members from the Department of Mechatronics, SRMIST, actively participated in the Village Sabha meeting held at Orathur, Kunrathur Block, Kancheepuram district. They spent a good part of the day interacting with villagers and discussing developmental initiatives related to sanitation, education, skill development, women's empowerment and sustainable rural livelihoods. Many of the solutions are worked out in the lab and implemented in the villages.

Under the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan, SRMIST has adopted 12 villages in the neighbourhood and is working to improve their socio-economic conditions involving students and faculty.

Empowering a women self-help group in Chettipunniyam village, opposite Mahindra World City, is an initiative that is now spreading to neighbouring villages.

Floral waste collected from the Yoga Hayagreevar temple in the locality is segregated before it goes into the process of making incense stick, dhooops and soaps.

"We have given kits and training to women SHG to recycle floral waste. While rose, tulsi and jasmine are preferred for their fragrance and is segregated from the lot, the other floral waste goes into making compost," says S. Vishali, associate professor and head, Chemical Engineering Department, SRMIST. They are even trained to market the products.

The workers in the temple have also been trained to convert biodegradable waste into compost and they are provided with drums for the purpose.

"While we did the research at college and discussed it at the Grama Sabha meeting, the implementation was carried out in the village where we engaged with the community for six months," says Vishali, adding that they continue to handhold them. This initiative of managing floral waste and offering livelihood opportunities to women is now being taken to other villages under Unnat Bharat Abhiyan.

Other interventions

Panchayat Union Middle School in Chettipunnam had only a single phase connection because of which many appliances including the RO plant did not function. The school management had taken up this issue at a Grama Sabha meeting. SRMIST students entered the picture with their offer of help. The school got the upgraded three-phase connection three months ago.

In another school, toilets were constructed based on a representation made at the meeting. In another project, biogas plant with digester was constructed.

V. Thirumurugan, Associate Director Campus life and Nodal officer, Unnat Bharat Abhiyan - SRMIST says the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan started in 2018 and since then the college has been taking up rural development and community engagement programmes in villages.

"Budget allotted for each project under this central government scheme includes four for technology customisation (grant of ₹ 50,000 each) and six projects sanctioned with a grant of ₹1,00,000 for technology intervention," says Thirumurugan.

WHAT RESIDENTS WANT

T.S. ATUL SWAMINATHAN

The Tambaram Police Commissionerate's traffic wing should regulate Acharya Tulsi Road and GST Road in Pallavaram. Motorists negotiating the junction resort to undisciplined traffic behaviour.

Motorists from Tirusulam (proceeding towards Tulsi Road) halt traffic flow from Pallavaram to Tirusulam.

Similarly, motorists from Acharya Tulsi Road drive in the wrong direction and take a right turn to enter GST Road.

Although traffic signals were installed some months ago, they are not yet functional.

'Plea to rename Madipakkam station'

Moovarasampet residents want Chennai Metro Rail Limited (CMRL) to rename Madipakkam Metro Station as Moovarasampet Madipakkam Koot Road Metro Station.

G. P. Babu, secretary of the Federation of Moovarasampet Residents' Welfare Association, says: "CMRL is constructing a terminal along Moovarsampet Main Road and Medavakkam Main Road. In the last three Grama Sabha meetings, Moovarasampet Village Panchayat has passed resolutions in this regard and has also sent petitions to CMRL."

The Federation has raised the issue with the Chengalpattu District Collectorate and Alandur Assembly Constituency MLA, T. M. Anbarasan, at Makkal Kurai Theerkum Kuttam and Special Grama Sabha Meetings.

V. Santhanam honoured by Tambaram Corporation

V. Santhanam was honoured for his service in the field of social activism by the Tambaram City Municipal Corporation on Independence Day. The Chromepet resident is nearing six decades of activism. His representations and protest meetings have helped people in many areas have their concerns addressed.

He was honoured with a shawl and a memento by the civic body's Commissioner S. Balachander and Mayor K. Vasanthakumari Kamalakannan.

Registered Post: recalling its heydays

From September 1, Registered Post will be discontinued and merged with Speed Post services. There are however rich memories around this postal service that will live on

From Trichinopoly to Madras

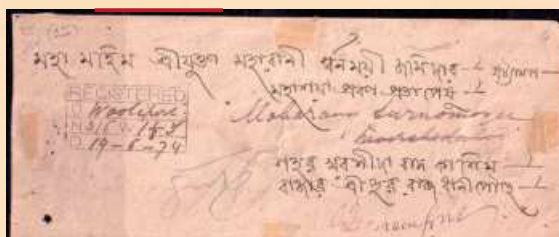

Rolands Nelson J. clarifies that registered post is not five or six decades old as many news reports say it is. He backs this statement with a small collection of registered posts, a majority of them dated prior to 1900. "From my records I can say registered post existed even during 1870s, and I have one sent in April 1871 from Trichinopoly (old name of Trichy during the British times) and received in Madras," says 79-year-old Rolands.

Stamps with two half anna (pale blue) and two anna (yellow) with the photo of Queen Victoria on them are seen. A few others in his collection include a registered post sent from Trichinopoly in 1884 and another in the 1900s. Being an avid collector, Rolands sourced them from dealers.

While nothing much can be inferred from the post, Rolands says the Tamil writings 200 years ago was different and would be difficult to read.

Rolands, who is president of South India Philately Association, says he has taken a keen interest in getting a collection of the postal history of Madras, starting from pre-stamp days. "I have a collection of letters, close to 40 album sheets, sent and received in Madras," says the Thiruvannamipur resident.

LIFFY THOMAS

A memory from East India Post

Collector Mahesh Parekh has a rare envelope showing a registered cover used during the East India Company. Dated June 19, 1874, the rubber stamps marked on it indicate that it was used during East India

Post booked at Woolipore (now in Bangladesh) to Bhigpore and redirected to Berhrampore.

An avid collector, Mahesh got this in his collection more than 50 years ago from the open market. He preserves it with utmost care.

Registered post was patronised in a big way by various government departments including the police, the revenue department and the legal fraternity, before it began to be used by business people and civilians.

"In the court of law, a registered post with the postal seal was one of the most important documents to be presented before any case," says Mahesh, secretary of South India Philately Association. The sender would also get an acknowledgement which was treated as a valid proof. He says once commercial transactions began in 1900, one started seeing more of registered posts.

History in envelopes

In Winston A. Henry's wide collection of relics from the past, there are many registered posts. One of them evokes a flood of postal memories.

The registered cover in question is from Manipal to Madras dated June 14, 1965. A resident of Sait Colony in Egmore was the receiver of this cover, stamped with two 25 paisa and two 15 paisa.

Winston is in the habit of hanging out with dealers. From them, he received a bunch of envelopes at ₹20 years ago.

Sometimes he visits the homes of stamp collectors and buys covers in bulk. The Anna Nagar resident, who ran a second hand bookstore for many years, has other rare registered covers including the first flight cover that was issued every time a plane was flown between two cities.

"A special postal cancellation was made for the occasion, and this cover was flown from Karachi to Madras and Colombo and returned to Karachi on the same route," says Winston.

The envelope was carried by the pilot for the post office and since it was the first flight it became extra special for me in my collection, he says.

Sports day conducted

The 13th sports day of Tiaano Vidyashram CBSE School was held recently. From drills, traditional games to sports, the event was held grandly. S. Nivedha, a kickboxing champion, was the chief guest. Nivedha Jayakumar, the school trustee; Vanajambika Jayakumar, managing trustee; and P. E. Nancy, secretary, distributed medals, prizes, and certificates to the students.

Kamakshi Hospitals launches 'Pink Promise' initiative

Dr. Kamakshi Memorial Hospitals has launched an initiative, 'Pink Promise', a campaign for early detection and awareness of breast cancer.

As part of the campaign, the hospital is offering free consultations and discounts on mammograms and ultrasounds, using its state-of-the-art Hologic 3D Mammography system.

This advanced technology enables painless screening with accuracy in detecting early-stage abnormalities, says a press release issued by the hospital.

The 100-day initiative aligns with 'Breast Cancer Awareness Month' in October and aims to encourage women to prioritise preventive healthcare.

Women over 30 are encouraged to undergo annual breast ultrasounds, while those over 40 should opt for yearly mammograms, the release adds.

Awareness camps in schools, colleges, community centres and at the hospitals in Pallikaranai and Siruseri regions will be held under the campaign.

To schedule appointments, call 98401 88564 / 78248 63117.

Special buses for Church festival

As part of the Basilica of Our Lady of Good Health Church festival at Velankanni in Nagapattinam, Tamil Nadu State Transport Corporation Limited will operate more than 1000 buses for the festival.

The buses will be operated from August 27 to September 10.

The State Express Transport Corporation (SETC) will operate the buses from Chennai, Bengaluru, Tuticorin, Kanyakumari, and Nagercoil.

For SETC buses, passengers can book tickets through www.tnsc.in and on the TNSTC's official app.

Besides, chartered trips will be arranged for people who want to participate in the festival as a group.

The annual festival of Our Lady of Good Health will be held from August 29 to September 8.

Seven 'Champions of Chennai' take centre stage

KSA Trust hosts its 12th annual event to honour citizens who are making a difference in their respective fields

Seven individuals in the field of arts and culture, education, enterprise, healthcare, science, social initiative and sports were honoured at the 12th edition of the 'Champions of Chennai' held on August 17 at Dakshinamurthy Auditorium on RK Mutt Road in Mylapore.

An initiative of KSA Trust, a non-profit organisation, the 'Champions of Chennai' award is given to Chennai citizens who have made a difference in their respective field.

According to a press release, the 2025 Champions of Chennai are: Jayaram Venkatesan of Arappor Iyakkam (Social Initiative); Maya Varadarajan of TT Ranganathan Clinical Research Foundation (Healthcare); Yuwan Aves of Palluyir Trust (Education); R. Deepan of Nanbargal Gramiya Kalai Kuzhu (Art and Culture); Dr. P.R.M.M. Shanthakumar of Flying Squad Ambulance Service (Enterprise); Anand Megalingam of Space Zone India (Science); and S. K. Thanigaivelan of Victory Sports Academy (Sports).

The chief guest for the function was Major General M. Indrabalan (retd), former Chief of Staff - Dakshin Bharat Area.

Chitra Mohan rendered a soulful prayer song at the event. Sreedharan blew the conch twice to herald the start of the programme, which was followed by the lighting of the traditional lamp. A welcome address was read by T.R. Gopalakrishnan, trustee, KSA Trust, after which the video montages of the 2025 awardees were played on giant screens placed on both sides of the stage. This was followed by inviting each of the awardees onto the stage to receive their award and a citation from the chief guest.

A quiz contest

For the first time, the Trust launched a quiz competition for middle school students. Each school team comprised three students.

The team from KSN Senior Secondary School in Thiruvannmiyur was declared the winner. They received an individual gift voucher of ₹2500 and a plaque.

The team from Maharishi Vidya Mandir in Chetpet was the runner-up and received ₹2000 as gift voucher.

The second runner-up spot was shared by Shree Venkateswarar Matriculation Higher Secondary School in Royapettah and Padma Seshadri Bala Bhavan Senior Secondary School, each participant receiving ₹1500 as gift voucher.

The chief guest expressed his appreciation of the work done by KSA Trust in selecting the awardees who, in his words, "are the real change makers in Chennai", added the press release.

K. Kalyanaraman, trustee, KSA Trust, proposed the vote of thanks

The Trust invites nominations for the Champions of Chennai award through the year. For details, visit www.championsofchennai.org
