

India-Mauritius Relations: Strengthening Long-Standing Ties

Introduction

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Mauritius (March 11-12, 2025) is a significant diplomatic event aimed at reinforcing the historic and strategic partnership between the two countries. The visit, coinciding with Mauritius' Independence Day celebrations on March 12, highlights the deep-rooted ties between India and Mauritius, which transcend political changes. The visit also provides an opportunity for Mr. Modi to establish a rapport with the newly elected Prime Minister, Navinchandra Ramgoolam, and reaffirm India's commitment to Mauritius' security and economic prosperity.

Historical and Cultural Ties

1. The Legacy of Sir Seewosagur Ramgoolam

- Sir Seewosagur Ramgoolam, the father of the current Prime Minister Navinchandra Ramgoolam, played a key role in Mauritius' independence movement.
- He had strong ties with Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose during Bose's time in Britain (1919-1921).
- He assisted Bose in proof-reading The Indian Struggle, a book about India's freedom movement, and received an autographed copy in appreciation.

2. Indian-Origin Population in Mauritius

- Around 70% of Mauritius' population is of Indian descent, tracing their origins to indentured laborers brought by colonial rulers for sugar plantations.
- Among them, about 50% hail from Bihar and Uttar Pradesh and still speak Bhojpuri.
- Other significant Indian-origin communities include Tamil, Telugu, and Marathi speakers who have preserved their linguistic and cultural heritage.

3. Mauritius' Multi-Ethnic Society

- Despite its Indian heritage, Mauritius has a diverse population, including African, French, and mixed ethnic groups.
- The French-origin population (2%) continues to hold economic influence, especially in banking, finance, and sugar plantations.
- India's diplomacy in Mauritius requires balancing ties with all ethnic communities while maintaining cultural bonds with the Indian-origin population.

4. Cultural and Linguistic Cooperation

- India has taken several initiatives to support the Indian diaspora in Mauritius:
  - The Mahatma Gandhi Institute (established in 1976) promotes Indian languages and culture.
  - The Indian Cultural Centre in Mauritius is the largest and most active among Indian cultural centers worldwide.
  - Mauritius hosts the World Hindi Secretariat, supported by India, to promote

Economic and Trade Cooperation

1. Expanding Bilateral Trade

- India-Mauritius trade reached $554 million in 2022-23, showing steady growth.
- Mauritius is part of the African Union and has preferential trade agreements with multiple African nations.
- The country is bilingual (English and French), making it a strategic hub for businesses targeting Francophone Africa.

2. Mauritius as a Financial Hub

- Due to a favorable Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement (DTAA), Mauritius is a major conduit for foreign investment into India.
  - It has developed into a key international financial center with a strong banking and finance sector, benefiting from stable laws and regulations.
  - Many global businesses use Mauritius as a gateway for investments in India and Africa.

Strategic and Maritime Security Cooperation

1. Mauritius' Importance in the Indian Ocean

- Mauritius controls an Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ) of 2.3 million sq. km, a vast maritime area requiring enhanced security.
- The Colombo Security Conclave includes India, Sri Lanka, the Maldives, Mauritius, and Bangladesh, ensuring regional maritime security.
- Given the growing Chinese influence in the Indian Ocean, India-Mauritius security cooperation is critical for countering potential security threats.

2. India's Maritime Support to Mauritius

- India has provided Mauritius with coastal radar stations and joint surveillance facilities on Agaléga island.
  - The Indian Navy's Information Fusion Centre for the Indian Ocean Region (IFC-IOR) in Gurugram shares maritime intelligence with Mauritius.
  - India's oceanographic survey ship, INS Sarvekshak, has recently mapped 25,000 sq. km of Mauritius' ocean territory.
